Academic Mentors for ICT in schools

The recent ACDICT Council Meeting (UNSW, July 2014) gave support to an ICT school teacher mentoring scheme.

This is an opportunity for you, your colleagues and students to mentor ICT teachers in schools and improve ICT teacher capabilities. You would be providing a community service in helping teachers be more informed about ICT in general, better able to implement the new ACARA Digital Technologies curriculum, as well as promoting ICT for your University.

CSIRO has an established STEM mentoring scheme that specifically includes ICT: www.scientistsinschools.edu.au/ict

Further information and registration are available at that site, and a flyer for the program is also available from www.acdict.edu.au.